靈氣 傳統

Hi Everyone,

1. Awakening to Your Inner Light

Within you exists a quiet, unshakable light — a presence untouched by fear, doubt, or the noise of the world. When you pause and listen deeply, you'll feel it guiding you toward truth and peace. This light is not something you must earn; it is your birthright. The more you trust it, the more life unfolds with clarity and grace, revealing that every challenge is simply a doorway to deeper wisdom.

2. The Power of Alignment

True empowerment comes not from controlling life, but from aligning with it. When your thoughts, words, and actions flow from love rather than fear, you step into a current that carries you effortlessly toward your highest good. In this state, you no longer chase fulfillment — you radiate it. The universe responds to this harmony, opening paths you never imagined possible.

3. Rising Through Challenges

Every trial you face is not a punishment, but an invitation — a sacred call to rise beyond the limits of who you thought you were. Like a seed breaking through the soil, growth often feels uncomfortable, yet it is the very process that shapes your strength. Trust that even in moments of uncertainty, you are being prepared for a greater purpose, one that will allow your spirit to shine brighter than ever before.

DR LANG, FRCS

A Surgeon Working from Another World

Dr William Lang 1852–1937

Dr Lang was an Ophthalmic Surgeon working from a London Hospital on 1 October 1870. Here he was house surgeon, house physician, and demonstrator of anatomy and physiology, and came into close touch with James Edward Adams, whose clinical assistant he was.

In 1881 he was elected ophthalmic surgeon to the Middlesex Hospital, on the resignation of George Critchett, and held office until 1914.

From 1884 to 1912 he was surgeon, at first an assistant surgeon, to the Royal London Ophthalmic Hospital, Moorfields, where he succeeded his former master, J E Adams, who had become totally blind.

Lang was a great clinical teacher, and a good operator in spite of a marked tremor of his hands

He had a mechanical mind and invented a speculum which guarded the lashes and kept them out of the field of operation, twin knives for the division of synechiae, a lachrymal syringe, a blunt dissector, and a scoop.

He was, too, amongst the first to advocate an artificial globe in the capsule of Tenon after enucleation, as a means of preventing the deformity following shrinkage of the orbital tissues and so permitting good movement of the artificial eye.

He was an original member of the Ophthalmological Society founded in 1880, was a vice-president and served as interim president in 1903 when Dr David Little died during his year of office.

He was also a prominent member of the ophthalmological section of the Royal Society of Medicine, where he was president in 1916-17.

He was amongst the first to recognise the importance of focal sepsis as a cause of chronic inflammatory disease of the eye, for instance that iritis which used to be thought of as rheumatic in origin was more often due to septic teeth.

This leads me to George Chapman (1921-2006), who partnered with the then deceased Dr Lang in the practice of spiritual healing.

A superb read is 'Surgeon from another World' by George Chapman and Roy Stemman shown below.

Chapman had never met Lang and had never heard of him before Lang started controlling him shortly after he discovered his mediumistic abilities in 1946

Roy Stemman has been researching a range of paranormal subjects since his teenage years. Roy Stemman is a professional journalist and self-described "skeptical believer". Roy applies a scientific analysis of the claims made by those working in the fascinating area of reincarnation and the author of numerous books.

Further reading and video's to watch are via the website below, click the link for direct access.

I TEACH EVERY STUDENT THE WAYS DR LANG WORKS

Dr Lang continues to visit the Therapy Rooms to carry out treatments on the eyes of our clients.

Dr Lang is known for his great work on Glaucoma of which I have had personal experience many times seeing him work.

Dr Lang recently worked on three abscesses in my own eye; within 2 weeks my eyes were healed.

Akiane... Prince of Peace

This is a story of a remarkable talented little girl Akiane, and a painting she managed to portray and capture of Jesus, at the age of 8, the painting was named “Prince of Peace”

| Receive life like a gift and
| release it like a present |
Akiane age 8 —”

From the age of four, Akiane’s recurrent visionary inspiration was to depict a profound role model of humanity.

And when a mysterious carpenter knocked on her front door one day, Akiana knew right away, it was time to paint the story of hope...

At the age of eight in 2002 Akiane completed her visionary artwork “Prince of Peace”, but, during her first exhibitions virtually no one recognised the significance of her artistic interpretation of Jesus. In fact, almost everyone who viewed the portrait ruthlessly condemned it. Some suggested even burning it.

Akiane’s family shipped the original to one art agent for an exhibition, but the agent stole the original and held it ransom.

After a miraculous chain of events and gruelling negotiations, the painting was eventually returned, but it was shipped recklessly.

When the bent crate was opened, Akiane’s original was covered in sawdust, just like sawdust after the crucifixion on a tree.

Akiane spent days carefully removing the sawdust specs with different tools, but many specs had become permanently embedded in the paint, a symbolic reminder of the scars of the crucifixion.

After a binding nine-year long contract with the agent was ended in court, Prince of Peace inadvertently fell into the hands of yet another agent and was mistakenly sold; instead of being displayed in a new exhibition as had been agreed upon.

So, Akiane and her family had to face yet another legal battle of separation.

For years the new owner kept Akiane's original under a staircase, hidden out of sight, in the dark.

The owner met an untimely death and 'Prince of Peace' became an unwanted burden for the family. It therefore was locked away from public eye at an obscure storage site.

Unfortunately, the owner's family did not want to reveal the painting or sell it to anyone, and year after year, Akiane's Jesus continued to be silenced trapped in a "tomb".

Over the years, Akiane painted different periods in Jesus's life, but her grief over the loss of her beloved portrait never lessened.

Fortunately, one transparency had been saved to make prints, and over time, Akiane's most controversial image became the most cherished and collected of all her artwork.

It also became one of the most recognised faces of Jesus in the world. After her travelling and working in 30 countries something remarkable happened... for the first time in 16 years, Akiane's painting of Jesus became available for acquisition.

Sight unseen, Akiane's original 'Prince of Peace' was immediately purchased by one of the world's most distinguished and esteemed families for $850,000 USD. Now for the first time the art collectors are about to see the original portrait of Jesus...

Akiane is about to see Prince of Peace painting, that Akiane hasn't seen since she was nine years old.

She was asked "Did you ever think you would see it again?" her answer "No" she thought it was never ever possible. Prince of Peace will finally see the light. Akiane is overwhelmed... seeing the painting after 16 years.

Akiane was asked "What was in your heart and mind when you were painting the eyes?" I wanted specifically, for Him to look at the person. And I think the reason...why I wanted to do the eyes this way, was because I wanted Him to speak to the person. Whoever is looking at him... almost like a personal conversation, an intimate conversation that only the person looking at Him can understand.

The sawdust and the thief's fingerprints are still there.. forever embedded in the dried-up oil paint, and so are Akiane's childhood signature brushstrokes and her hidden paint marks.

The original was lovingly packed and flown in the most majestic and royal way possible in this world. The eight-year-olds interpretation of Jesus and the message of real love and peace were finally resurrected.

Akiane feels that God has chosen the most noble family in the world to free this one-of-a-kind painting.

The new family view themselves as stewards for the original. They feel it is their mission to protect this masterpiece for generations to come, so it can touch millions of more lives with its story. Their main desire is for Prince of Peace to be seen by millions of people around the world.. Akiane's portrait of Jesus is a Gift to the world it was painted for Peace, Love and Hope.

Here are two short videos about Akiane.

The first is a televised news programme detailing the history of Akiane and the Prince of Peace.

The second is a video taken at the time Akiane was reunited for the first time in 16 years, with her cherished portrait of Jesus.

REIKI INSIGHT

Heikin Joka Balanced Cleansing

Reiki treatment does not just heal pains or superficial symptoms, it tackles the roots and origin of the sickness, here we explain more...

Reiki treatments boost the cleansing process as it activates the immune system; the body's self-cleansing function, leading to faster and more effective cleansing without side effects. Actually, this is part of the healing and not a side effect. Toxins are hidden deep in the muscles and Reiki brings them to the surface to be removed, so it is a necessary process. It is important to tell recipients of your Reiki that these things might happen, and that they are positive signs, so they don't need to worry unnecessarily.

Here is an example; if you have ever suffered from a painful right shoulder and after receiving a Reiki treatment it begins to feel better, you may then feel pain in your left shoulder. It seems the pain has moved from the right to left; but this is not the case. During the natural cleansing process your body accumulates toxins to be ejected from your physical system, as mentioned above, when this process takes place, toxins are not collected in only one area, your body system tries to balance the toxins to help the cleansing process. This is called Heikin Joka or balanced cleansing.

This means that toxins were present on both sides of the left and right shoulders. There was simply a little more toxin on the right side; and so the pain in the left shoulder was not so apparent.

Once the pain on the right side has eased, then the pain on the left side is more noticeable.

This occurs in all areas of the body, and it is therefore important to give Reiki to both sides equally and to explain to receivers that the process of healing or cleansing will be a gradual one.

In Issue 4 we will explain further about balanced cleansing and Byosen.

Reiki 3rd Degree

Master Teacher Course

The Master Degree is taught either on a 1:1 basis or a small class group size of no more than 4 students. In this degree you receive another four Attunements. You are now given two more symbols; a Master Symbol and an Attunement Symbol. Some schools of Reiki split this degree into Reiki Advanced Degree and Reiki Teacher Degree, (ie. a 3rd and 4th Degree). However, we cover all aspects of the Master Degree in one intensive course.

Our 3rd Degree Master/Teacher Course is a combined course, its ideal for those who want to work within a higher 3rd degree level, and for practitioners who would like to teach. This initiation opens the doors to our hidden self and takes us up into the next stage of our evolution. It is for those students who wish to become whole, by owning and becoming responsible for all that they are. It is essential to wait a minimum of twelve months after the 2nd Degree before embarking upon the Master Degree. By this stage you should be fully conversant with the chakra system and spiritual issues. You must have also shown a commitment to the regular practice of Reiki and feel committed to passing your knowledge and experience onto others. The Master Degree is for those individuals who wish to teach Reiki. Becoming a Reiki Master requires commitment and dedication. Taking on Reiki Master ship has to be realised is a significant commitment. You will be passing on the 'Usui Reiki Tradition' and maintaining a commitment to the students for teaching and guiding them through their Reiki training. This commitment and guidance must continue long after they have taken their training with you. You must think hard before you embark upon this degree and make sure that you have the dedication required. It is important to understand that we are all continuously learning when we work with the energy of Reiki. We are all on a wonderful learning curve.

Upon completion of this Course on the Saturday evening Students will be presented with the Course Presentation Items.

We ask Students to return back to the Therapy Rooms after a Duration of 8 weeks after completion on the Saturday Evening. This is to attend a Special Presentation. At this presentation evening, students are presented with special Reiki Historic Gifts, Lineage items. This evening is a surprise evening, where students are presented with Special Memorabilia items. This evening is presented by Martin R Thirlwell Reiki Master, in recognition of new Master Students now joining the Usui Shiki Ryoho Lineage.
